Getting Married: A Brief Guide

Congratulations!

We are delighted to hear that you have decided to get married and that you have chosen our beautiful church for the ceremony. We promise to do our best to make your wedding a profound and memorable occasion.

The service itself is, of course, the focal point of the day and there is a lot of fun to be had in making it your own. For example, you can be inventive in your choice of music and hymns, readings, poetry and prayers. You may also want to involve friends or family in reading or even performing.

We are here to help you with all these matters and there will be plenty of opportunity to discuss your options with the Priest who will officiate at the service and with our Director of Music. Indeed, the officiant will try to meet with you several times before the big day to discuss both the service and the meaning of marriage for you both. All weddings at The Cathedral of the Isles are at the discretion of The Provost, who is The Rt Revd Kevin Pearson, Bishop of Argyll & The Isles. Bishop Kevin will not necessarily be directly involved in your ceremony but will discuss your plans with the officiant who will conduct the service on his behalf.

The Scottish Episcopal Church is delighted to be able to marry couples of the same sex as well as separate sex partners.

The following notes include details of practical matters. We would be very grateful if you could complete the enclosed forms and send them to the Cathedral Office as soon as possible. We will then ask a Priest to be in touch with you to begin discussing your plans.

Please note that under Scottish law, no wedding can proceed without a Schedule from the Registrar of Marriages. You must visit the Registrar to arrange this at least a month before the ceremony – although the sooner you do this the better for your own peace of mind.

If you wish Holy Communion to be part of the service, please mention this to the minister.

The Cathedral operates a 3-star guest house and is able to offer catering and/or accommodation should you require it. Please discuss this with the Cathedral Office.

Music

Please discuss the music for your wedding with the Director of Music at least six weeks before the ceremony. This is particularly important if you would like the Choir to be present to ensure you have the appropriate number of choir members for the musical pieces you have requested. The Director of Music will also advise on issues of copyright particularly when the ceremony is to be recorded. Please note that the cathedral office does not arrange for an organist to be present at your wedding – this is done by the Director of Music in consultation with you.

Video and Photography

Photographs may be taken in the church after consultation with the Minister, they may also be taken on church premises outside the church. Videos may be recorded by arrangement with the Director of Music. The Cathedral's fee does not cover any copyright music recorded during the service or at the reception. Please see guidance at www.videolicence.co.uk

Flowers

The Cathedral is not able to offer flower arranging but should you wish to make your own arrangements to decorate the Cathedral we would be delighted to discuss this with you.
